Powerhouse Folk Trio BTU performing in Herons Jan 28

QUADRA, ARE YOU READY for an evening of quality folk tunes, a collaboration of three Canadian folk stars?

The dark drear of January blues is solved with this prescription: a dinner show in Herons with BTU, a powerhouse folk trio who'll melt your heart with their beautiful harmonies, evocative lyrics, driving rhythms and sweet balladry. Barney Bentall, Tom Taylor and Shari Ulrich have been playing together for a few years now; their shows receive critical acclaim. The three solo performers had a loose collaboration until forming BTU in 2013. BTU grew from the undeniable enjoyment for both the artists and their audiences, and they have a new album: Tightrope Walk is their second recording, an acoustic instrumental delight.

Saturday January 28 enjoy an evening with the eclectic mix of the character, voices and songwriting talents of these three unique artists at the Heriot Bay Inn. Dinner & show tickets are available by calling the Inn at 250.285.3322. Two course dinner and show tickets: $54; show only seats are $34.

Bentall headed up the rock charttoppers and Juno Award winners Barney Bentall and the Legendary Hearts through the 1990s, then took a break until launching a solo singer-songwriter career in 2007. Ulrich is a two-time Juno Award winner and a member of the B.C. Entertainment Hall of Fame. She first became known on the West Coast music scene as a multiinstrumentalist with the Pied Pumkin and as a singer for the Hometown Band. Taylor started out in the quartet She Stole My Beer with classmates from school in Vancouver, which released two albums and toured extensively. He then embarked on a solo songwriting and recording career, with two solo albums to his credit.

SCHOOL ZONE

Rethinking Math at Quadra Elementary

Hello, I'm Bobby, the grade 2/3 teacher at Quadra Elementary this year. I was asked to write a small piece to let you, the amazing readers, know what's happening at our school. Needless to say at any one moment a lot is going on!! It's hard to pin down just one topic to write about, but I've decided to share an exciting shift that is happening school-wide; the way we think about math.

For many, early math class memories come with emotional baggage. I still can remember page after page of similar questions leading up to a timed test at the end of the week. I also can recall thinking I wasn't smart enough to 'get' math. It's memories like these that can seriously impede the confidence and abilty of students. Through professional development this year, we teachers have taken aim at how we teach math, and how we can best support our learners for success.

If you walk into a classroom during a math lesson, things might look a little different than you're used to. Most days, after whole group discussions, students are working together in small groups. Their thinking is represented visually, written on non-permanent surfaces, and concepts are worked into either one large problem that needs solving or a game. Taking chances is encouraged and mistakes are never chided by teachers or other students.

This type of math learning is built upon a few key ideas influenced by math education guru Jo Boaler:

Anyone can learn Math. Our brains are powerful and amazing things. Through current brain research, we know they have the ability to grow, adapt and change. We also know that no one is born with a 'math brain'.....or without one! With the right teaching and messages, everyone can be successful at math.

Mistakes are powerful. It's important that we encourage learners to take chances and celebrate a mistake. I always say to students that "when you make a mistake, your brain is growing". Boaler's research shows that when we make mistakes, synapses in our brain fire and make new connections, and even more are made once we figure out where we went wrong.

Having a growth mindset is important. A 'growth mindset' encourages students to think that smartness increases with hard work, rather than believing that you either have or don't have intelligence. When faced with a challenge, frustration, or failure, a person with a growth mindset takes a deep breath or two and tries again. It's sometimes a tough skill to teach, but ulitmately leads to different learning behaviours that encourage perseverance in the learner.

Math takes time. Some of the greatest mathematicians need time in order to think about a problem at hand. speed and timed activities, like 'math minutes', don't encourage critical thinking, block off working memory, and lead to higher anxiety in students.

Math is visual. When students work with symbols (ie. numbers), they are using a different part of the brain than when they work with visual information. Math learning improves when both areas of the brain are communicating with each other. I encourage students to draw out pictures to help understand their thinking or work out a solution. It is always so amazing to step back and see all of the different ways groups visualize a problem to solve it, and often leads to some great discussions!

These ideas have really changed the way I think about math, and how I try to best support every learner in my class. Hopefully, my students can make some math memories that pack a little less emotional baggage and leave them thinking how great and limitless their math learning can be!

Until next time!

Bobby

RCMP2016 Year in Review

In 2016, Quadra Island RCMP recorded the most calls for service since the adoption of our new records management system approximately 9 years ago. Quadra RCMP received a total of 927 total files (calls for service) for the year. Quadra RCMP is also responsible for Read and Cortes Island so of those 927 calls for service, 8 of them were for Read Island and 153 of them were for Cortes Island. Calls for service can range from anything from a reported theft, break and enter, assault, impaired driver, keep the peace, motor vehicle accident, sudden deaths, mental health act, illegal hunting or assisting other detachments with investigations involving people that reside in our area and the list goes on. In total, police laid Criminal Code or Motor Vehicle Act charges in 51 of those 927 calls for service but this does not include violation tickets or warnings that are issued during regular traffic stops. I have added a brief break down of some of the statistics (these are for Quadra, Cortes, and Read Island combined (These are just a few):

- 14 Break and enters (includes businesses,residences,cabins and other buildings)
- 36 Assaults
- 45 Thefts
- 19 Motor Vehicle Accidents
- 1 Criminal Code Impaired
- ${\bf 10}$  Missing Persons Investigations
- 23 90 Day Immediate Roadside prohibitions (IRPs)
- 14 3 Day Immediate Roadside Prohibitions
- 5 24 hour suspensions from alcohol
- 1 24 hour suspension from drugs

These statistics can be broken down even more and do not include calls for service where police could have laid charges but did not lay charges in cases such as possession of marihuana, open liquor, and obstructing a police officer, intoxicated in public, and causing a disturbance to name a few. Depending on your view of these statistics, I can tell you that the crime rate for Quadra, Read, and Cortes Island is very low and this is the safest community I have ever had the pleasure of policing. If you have any questions feel free to contact me.

Friday Flicks: 'The Apology'

On February 3, 7:45pm at Quadra Community Centre, Friday Flicks presents the National Film Board of Canada film The Apology.

During WW II roughly 200,000 women and girls in Japanese-occupied countries were forced into sexual slavery by the Imperial Japanese Army, named "Comfort Women" and forced to serve in military "comfort stations" at home and abroad. The Apology follows three of the remaining survivors of this horrific, historic abuse. Devastating and inspirational, beautiful and transformative; the painful, unresolved journey of these grandmothers is deep testament to the human spirit. Today, they fight for reconciliation and justice as they struggle to make peace with the past.

2016 Christmas Bird Count Notes...

The annual Christmas Count was held on January 2nd this year and, as usual, teams went out to scour the two regions on Quadra that are count zones for this international event. Fifty-six species were accounted for on Quadra, and a total of 1,823 individual birds. Interesting species of note were Black Scoters (7), Long-tailed Ducks (2), Pacific Loon (38), Wilson's Snipe (1), Ancient Murrelet (2), Anna's Hummingbirds (3), American Robin (2).

Not spotted this year: Red Crossbills or Pine Siskins. What does this mean?? In itself, not much... Variations from year to year reflect more about the weather, the volunteers, the equipment used... or just where the birds are hanging out on that day. It is the long-term trends that count. For these two species in particular it is not alarming - data shows their population counts are remaining steady. Both Crossbills and Siskins travel in gregarious flocks and their patterns vary greatly from year to year, according to their food supply. Both are "irruptive" species, which means that some years, driven by the crop of seeds that they prefer, they will "irrupt" into an area and be seen in large numbers. It all depends on the abundance of the seed crop from year to year.

This year was the 117th year of the annual count, and 1031 locations participated, with 2,7468,598 individual birds counted. The final results will not be compiled for a while, but you can check them out when they are available at http://netapp.audubon.org/cbcobservation/.

Radio Theatre For Audio Thespians!

Theatre Quadra's putting on a RADIO PLAY! It will be performed on stage, with actors reading from the page. No prancing, dancing or fancy-pantsing! Just exciting reciting! So, if you're interested in dramatizing without memorizing, then make the choice to lend your voice! We're looking (and listening) for 4 adult guys and 2 adult gals at our casting call on Sunday, January 29, in the HBI Bay View Room, from 11:00 to 1:00 & 4:00 to 5:00.

(BTW... if you just like making a lot of noise... we need sound effects 'Foley' folks, too. Search 'Foley' on YouTube to see how much fun it is!) Our performance will take place on the evening of Saturday, April 22 (and possibly Sunday afternoon) at the Quadra Community Centre.

Arm Chair Yoga

Ever tried Yoga? How about armchair yoga? Kate Alexander will be blowing away the snow and winter blues on Mondays in January at the Quadra Circle Seniors Activity Centre, Quadra School. Join us with or without an armchair from 11.00am to noon in the music room. Contact Helen at (250) 285-2788 or email helenqcircle@gmail.com for more information. There is no charge for these sessions.

Kate Alexandra is a certified yoga teacher based out of Quadra Island, B.C. Back before voga introduced itself to her, Kate was trained in musical theatre at the Randolph Academy for the Performing Arts in Toronto. Yoga found Kate through the path of dance and theatre. Moving back to Quadra from Toronto 10 years ago, there was limited space to dance in, and Kate needed that physical/creative outlet. Yoga revealed itself, as it does when the student is ready, and Kate hasn't spent a day without her mat since. Like for so many of us, yoga has been the pathway to so much more growth and personal evolution than she ever could have realized when first embarking on this journey.

Kate completed her 200h YTT training in Vancouver and has taught yoga to kids and adults downtown, in the studio she opened in Richmond and along our beautiful coastal paradise here on the island.

Rebuilding our Community Centre - A Historical Look

Under the auspices of Quadra Literacy, a small group is undertaking a project to document the history of the community halls on Quadra.

The Valdes Island Social Club formed in 1917 and a community hall was built the following year. In 1940, the club became the Quadra Island Recreation Association. The original hall was dismantled in 1973.

Around that time, energy for building a new community hall began. We have some archival photos but are looking for more showing the planning and construction of the building, the landscaping and the addition. Do you have a story you would like to share of those times? Were you a member of the Quadra Island Recreation Association in the 60's? Perhaps you participated in some of the building, landscaping and fundraising phases for the current hall.

From the collected material, we will create a digital presentation that will be available for the community and shared online.

If you have a memory or photos of those early days, we invite you to call one of us: Robin Beaton @285-3185, Gretchen Peters @285-3529, Marcy Wolter @285-3849 or Jean Aston @285-3542

TimberWest Forest Corp., North Island Operation, within the Campbell River Forest District gives notice and invites written comment on a proposed replacement to the approved Quadra-Quinsam Forest Stewardship Plan (FSP). The FSP may be amended as a result of written comments received during the public review and comment period. The public review and comment period runs from January 18, 2017 to March 20, 2017.

The FSP will be available for review at the following location, dates and time. To ensure a representative from TimberWest is available to discuss the plan any interested parties should telephone in advance to arrange an appointment.

Come join Quadra Singers for our Spring session which starts next Thursday, January 19th. We will be preparing for our own Quadra version of Woodstock dubbed "Q-stock" and celebrate Bob Dylan winning the Nobel Prize for literature and honour the late Leonard Cohen. By rocking out to songs of the 60's, we will sing the songs most of us grew up with and still know by heart. It will be a fun session culminating with a concert on April 29th, 2017. The audience will be invited to attend in their best 60's, hippie outfit still hidden in deep in the closet. We invite you to join us for the fun. We will also have a special educational retreat in March.

The first rehearsal is January 19th at 6:45 at the Quadra Community Centre. For more information contact us on our Facebook page or by calling Margot at 250-285-2393.

Quadra Quilters Guild News

The Guild has gone hi-tech and has provided a link to view photos of the past years "biggest production of Community Quilts ever!" I have included a statement from our past Treasurer, Sharron Hatelt regarding the quilts:

"The past year has seen our biggest production of community quilts ever! We donated five quilts to help fund-raise for local groups, while nine baby quilts were sent to Baby's Best Chance and Hearts for Hannah (the neo natal unit at BC Children's Hospital). The Syrian families received a dozen, as did the Food Bank families and two more have gone to Quadra Circle's seniors. We also received several personal requests and were able to meet that need as well. The main effort of course was directed to Fort McMurray families where we contributed three dozen quilts of various sizes! The shipping costs were graciously donated so the only expenses for the year were two rolls of batting and some flannelette for backings. I have made a 'smilebox' slideshow of each of the 80 quilts for this year. A heartfelt thank you to all who helped so generously!"

The next meeting of the Quadra Island Quilters Guild is February 14th, starting at 9:00 am. Newcomers are welcome. If you have any questions or are interested in coming to the meeting you can call Terry Phillips at 250-285-3040.

Reconciliation: Noun or Verb?

Come and join us for an evening of respectful discussion with James Quatrell. James is a native elder from Campbell River who is willing to talk... talk about issues he faces in an open exploratory way. Everyone is welcome to join James and others at the Quadra Island United Church, Sunday, February 5, at 7 pm. At Cape Mudge

Is Reconciliation a Noun or a verb? A major question. In Canada, Harper thought of it as a noun - he apologized, so let's move on. To most others it is a verb – a process. This is something everyone living in Canada might want to consider... what is there to reconcile? The First Nations people have had their lands taken, been forced on to Reserves, forced into residential schools and have had their culture turned upside down. People have been forced to do things in their jobs that they know are wrong on an individual level such as clearcutting forests, polluting the waters and air, go to war. There is a need to talk about all this and more, especially at an individual level. The outcome has yet to be defined.

Reconciliation is a current topic in Canada as the results and recommendations of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission have been published. To find out more, go to: www.trc.ca

This talk will be an ongoing event in our series addressing Reconciliation. We invite the Quadra Public to attend an join us in this conversation. Call 285-3163 for more information.

Just Eat It on Feb 4

SIERRA QUADRA kicks off 2017 with the award-winning Canadian film 'Just Eat It' on Saturday, February 4 at QCC. The film asks why – as a society that devours cooking shows, foodie blogs and culinary magazines - we persist in chucking 50% of our food into the trash?

Filmmakers and avowed foodies Jen and Grant follow the food waste trail from farm, through retail, all the way to the back of the fridge. In a nation where one in ten people face food insecurity, the images they capture of squandered groceries are shocking yet strangely compelling. They quit grocery shopping cold turkey and pledge to live only on foods that have been discarded. Embracing food rescue for survival turns out to have surprising consequences!

Join us for this documentary described as 'smart and snappy' and 'educational, entertaining, and potentially life changing.' Feb 4, QCC.
